Good evening, all,

Social Environment Recovery update

The Australian Red Cross have some excellent information and resources to assist people following an emergency or other traumatic incident. Their webpage Coping after a Crisis has some very useful and pertinent information to assist individuals and communities.

Built Environment Recovery update

Investigations and monitoring continue on the site.

Tomorrow we will be testing the use of a SMS system to forward this information via text message as well as email.

The next communication will be on Wednesday 5th of February 2025 unless there is a significant update.

Thank you.
